Objective

I'm a Senior Front End Architect also I consult to companies on how to approach front-end development and create maintainable code as well as on front-end project development by demand.

I studied Systems Engineering at Universidad Industrial de Santander and Enterprise software Architecture at Pontificia Universidad Javeriana , Colombia.

I hardly believe in producing easily maintainable code for applications by following the principles of reactive programming, best practices of software architecture and by creating modular testable code. I like to keep the code and app structure organized so as to let other developers easily understand and extend it. I'm proficient with JavaScript and front-end development. I work with various solutions, such as Angular, React js, ngrx, redux, sass, webpack, jasmine, nodejs, and JavaScript-based Build Tools, which solve challenges well. I enjoy spending time with his family, playing guitar, meditating, traveling, and watching TV series and movies.
